I have seen 100's of kids go through Nybora's program. It's easy to spot the talented skiers. They simply love the sport and make everything look easy. They also practice, practice, practice until they get that new trick.

Adam Peterson is one of those skiers that you notice on the hill. You notice him because he is there everyday. You notice him because he is doing tricks no one else does.

You are impressed by the amount of tricks that he has learned in the past 2 years coming from a background of ski racing. His equipment shows the hours he spends on the hill and those hours have put him on top of the podium at most every comp.

When you meet Adam, you will meet a polite 15 year old that doesn't brag about his tricks and skis because he loves to ski. I know he will continue to get better each day and I know that he would appreciate any opportunity that comes his way. I hope this letter helps give you a glimpse of a kid that has impacted my life. Adam is one of those kids that will keep excelling in the sport and given the right opportunities, I know Adam will be one of those kids that will impact many more people in the sport.
